Watson's got green dreams

● Candidate says he'll work with province on bylaw to turn roofs into green gardens and solar panels ● Wants Ottawa to lead Ontario in green energy within 4 years

A mayoral candidate wants to create a green team within the city's planning department as part of his plan for a more sustainable Ottawa.

The green team will make it easier for projects striving to achieve more in green building, said Jim Watson at Petrie Island yesterday.

"We need to make sure that planning is done in such a way that it protects the environment while also embracing green technologies," he said.

Watson said he would restructure the city's planning department so departments with similar expertise can work together. He would also dedicate a portion of each year's budget surplus to establishing an environmentally sensitive land reserve fund and to expanding the city's waste diversion program.

Most of these initiatives don't require more funds, but are about reallocating resources already in place, he said.

Mayoral incumbent Larry O'Brien criticized Watson's green team plan.

Views differ on growing city

O'Brien would change Official Plan, Watson would keep it Doth see LRT as key

Mayor Larry O'Brien and challenger Jim Watson unveiled starkly different plans for Ottawa's growth over the weekend, and were quick to criticize each other's visions for the city.

On Saturday, O'Brien

announced his intention to significantly overhaul the Official Plan, build more affordable housing in the suburbs and put a hard cap on the heights of buildings downtown.

Among his first steps if re-elected, he said, would be to move 600 city employees from downtown Ottawa to suburban communities like Stittsville and Orleans.

Yesterday, Watson unveiled his own blueprint for growth, within the city's existing Official Plan. He contrasted these ideas with O'Brien's proposals for a ring road and a large new suburban development. O'Brien was equally critical of Watson's plans.

"Jim Watson's view of Ottawa is clearly still an"Residents in the core don't all want to live in condominiums, and those in the suburbs don't want to be treated like second-class citizens. It's time that we put the 'smart' back into 'smart growth." MAYOR LARRY O'BRIEN chored in the way things were before the turn of the century, and doesn't embrace the reality of the Ottawa we live in today," he said.

Walk for Form Animals ▶ Dozens participated in

Plight of farm animals highlighted

Dozens of animal advocates walked to raise awareness for the plight of farm animals yesterday. Now in its fifth year, the Ottawa Walk for Farm Animals works to improve conditions for cows, chickens, lambs, pigs and turkeys, said event co-organizer Susan Lawrence.

"There are 55 billion animals on farms that are slaughtered every year, and they mostly live in horrible conditions," said

"It's not necessary to have this kind of horror going on."

Lawrence said the majority of people aren't aware of what happens to animals on farms.

While there's growing awareness, especially in recent years, the more people learn about the issue the more likely they are to stop eating animal products, she said.

"I believe in trying to improve conditions for farm animals," said Ottawa resident Diana Payne, who went vegetarian a decade ago after hearing about how some animals are treated

"I'd like to become a vegan '

The standards on Ottawa-area farms are typical for Canada, said Lawrence.

"Maybe some are not as bad as others, but it's always bad."

• Government looks at Australian plan to increase cyber security

The U.S. government is reviewing an Australian program that will allow Internet service providers to alert customers if their computers are taken over by hackers and could limit online access if people don't fix the problem.

Obama administration officials have been meeting with industry leaders and experts to find ways to increase online safety, as they try to strike a balance between securing the Internet and guarding Americans' privacy and civil liberties.

Cyber experts and U.S. officials are interested in portions of the plan, slated to go into effect in Australia in December.

The discussions come as private, corporate and government computers across the U.S. are increasingly being taken over and exploited by hackers and other computer criminals.

White House cyber coordinator Howard Schmidt told The Associated Press that the U.S. is looking at a number of voluntary ways to help the public and

Bombardier introduces 2 new jets

Bombardier is reasserting its status as the world's largest business jet manufacturer with the introduction of two new business aircraft.

The Montreal-based company says the Global 7000 and the Global 8000 aircraft will combine longer distances with improved fuel efficiency and increased comfort.

Bombardier made the announcement Saturday, ahead of the National Business Aviation Association's convention in Georgia next week.

The new jets mean the company's Global aircraft family will now have four models covering the large, ultra long-range category at a time when Bombardier is trying to fend off competition from American Gulfstream's new G650 model.

The Gulfstream model, which has garnered 200 orders and is set to enter into service in 2012, has a longer range than an existing Global model — the Global Express.

Canadian economy bounces back again

The Canadian economy appears to be on the mend again after a major stumble earlier this summer that rekindled fears of a possible double-dip recession.

Fresh evidence mounted Friday that July may have been an aberration, rather than the beginning of a downward spiral, as Canadian manufacturing, housing and U.S. retail sales all came in surprisingly strong.

The most dramatic boost came in the unlikeliest place — a strong two per cent jump in the troubled manufacturing sector in August, powered by motor vehicle, petroleum and coal product manufacturers.

As well, new orders were up 5.3 per cent in a signal of future activity.

On the heels of betterthan-expected export numbers Thursday, fuelled by auto shipments, the data is the first strong news the factory sector has received in months.

Equally important, say analysts, is that the longidle U.S. consumer is showing signs of reviving, with the third consecutive month of healthy growth coming in September, a 0.6 per cent pickup following gains of 0.7 and 0.5 per cent the previous two months.

After a swoon, the Canadian housing sector is also showing signs of stabilizing. The Canadian Real Estate Association reports home sale activity rose three per cent in Sep► Avery Shenfeld, tember, reaching the highest level since April.

The latest positive indicators do give the Bank of Canada's governor more room to keep hiking short-term interest rates if he chooses, something he is being urged to do by C.D. Howe's unofficial monetary policy council.

But market watchers are still betting Mark Carney will pause after raising the trendsetting policy rate three consecutive times since June to one per cent, and that super-low lending costs will be in place for the next six to 12 months.

THE TALKATIVE LIAR AT THE DOOR

A liar came to my door the other day. I knew he was lying because he worked for an energy retailer. And his lips were moving.

ndeed, his lying gums never stopped flapping as he laid on the patter about how much more I'll end up paying for power if I didn't sign, on the spot, this fantastic contract from his wonderful company.

The companies' names change, but their game doesn't. Invariably, those who sign these contracts find their electricity bills shoot up shockingly. Often the only way out of the contract is to pay a hefty penalty. Algoma-Manitoulin MPP Mike

Brown, after countless horror stories from seniors and other constituents, introduced a private member's bill to ban door-to-door sales of energy contracts.

"I have not been able to discover where one consumer any-where benefitted from buying one of these contracts," he told me. "The opportunity for winning in this is non-existent."

Brown's bill died on the order paper, but he hopes Ontario's Energy

Consumers Protection Act, in effect Jan. 1, will at least curb some of the worst abuses of these retailers, which are the subject of countless consumer complaints.

came equipped with what looked like a portfolio of laminated Hydro Ottawa bills. When I could get a word in edgewise, I declined and shut the door.

A quick Google of his company's name (the search engine helpfully suggested completing the

Case that killed a career

Worth Mentioning

WASHINGTON. More than nine years after the disappearance of Washington intern Chandra Levy generated headlines around the world, an illegal immigrant from El Salvador accused of killing her is scheduled to stand trial.

Ingmar Guandique goes on trial today for Levy's 2001 killing. However, he's not even a blip on the national consciousness of the case, which dominated news coverage until the Sept. 11, 2001, terror attacks rendered it an afterthought.

The intern's mysterious slaying led to the downfall of former California congressman Gary Condit, whose political career imploded after he was romantically linked to Levy and for a time became the No. 1 suspect. While police no longer believe Condit had any thing to do with Levy's death, Condit's spokes-man, Bert Fields, said Con-dit expects to be called as a witness at Guandique's trial, though he has not been subpoenaed, Condit is writing a book about his experience.

Guandique, charged in 2009, escaped scrutiny in large part because of the frenzy around Condit. The former congressman never admitted an affair but said he was friends with Levy, though the intern had told family members the two had a romantic relationship.

Avatar and 30 Rock were among the winners of the 2010 Environmental Media Association awards on Saturday night, which recognized individuals, organizations and productions that help increase public awareness of environmental issues.

The awards were presented at an eco-friendly ceremony at Warner Bros. Studios that featured organic food and compostable dinnerware. Actors Olivia Munn and Jason Ritter hosted the event, which was sponsored by one of Hollywood's favourite green-mobiles, Toyota Prius.

Other productions recognized for spreading a green message were the documentary Gasland and TV shows Bones, Handy Manny, Living With Ed and Lights, Camera, Take Action! Backstage With Disney's Friends for Change.

Entrepreneurs Ted Turner and Jeff Skoll received honorary awards for their environmental contributions. Natalie Portman presented Skoll with his award. His namesake foundation has funded organizations such as The Amazon Conservation Team, the American Council on Renewable Energy and Global Footprint Network.

Turner, who founded CNN, supports wildlife habitat preservation, promotes sustainable energy and furthers other environmental causes through his Turner Foundation. His award was presented by his ex-wife, Jane Fonda.

Rosario Dawson, Lance Bass and Eva Mendes were also among awards presenters.

thought it was great to see a celebration of Canadian talent, although it might feel a little odd to some.

"I think it's always complicated for me because on the one hand we're always beating ourselves up for not celebrating ourselves enough. But for me, one of the national characteristics I'm most proud of in this country is humility," Polley said.

Polley and Furtado were the youngest of the in-ductees — both are turning 32 in the coming months — and Furtado said it was humbling to be recognized while her career is still flourishing.

"It's kind of inspiring because I do feel like I've got a lot of work to do still and more dreams I want to accomplish, whether it's within music or outside of music," she said.

The induction ceremony was to be hosted by comedian Howie Mandel, who got a Walk of Fame star of his own last year.

Mandel said he was glad

"Doug Henning is the man, he is magic," Mandel

"He's my first recollection of being aware of any magic, or any illusionists.

The gala will be broad-

Jolie denied filming permit in Bosnia

Wartime story raises concerns among rape victims
 Angelina Jolie calls problems a misunderstanding

Angelina Jolie has questioned Bosnia's decision to withdraw her film permit, saying Friday it was based on false rumours that her movie will be a love story about a Bosniak woman and a Serb man who raped her during the country's war.

But the actress, and two members of her film crew in Sarajevo, declined to say what the plot of her directorial debut will be, and that could make it difficult to allay the concerns of the movie's main opponents: Bosnia's wartime rape victims.

Jolie said in a written statement Friday that it will be a shame if "unfair pressure based on wrong information" prevents her crew from shooting her film in Bosnia.

She offered to meet with wartime rape victims in Bosnia and to clarify misunderstandings that led Sarajevo's culture minister, Gavrilo Grahovac, to deny the permit.

"My hope is that people will hold judgment until they have seen the film," Jolie said.

The movie was supposed to be shot partly in Bosnia in November, but Grahovac revoked the permit this week under pressure from the Association of Women, Victims of War, which represents the several thousand mainly Muslim Bosniak women who were raped during Bosnia's 1992-95 war.

Jolie's Sarajevo producer, Edin Sarkic, told The Associated Press on Friday that the rumour about the rape victim falling in love with a rapist is "insane." But he also said his contract with Jolie prevents him from disclosing details about the script.

Instead, Sarkic said, he resubmitted the movie permit application to Grahovac on Wednesday, along with a full script, and expects the minister to grant a new permit.

lacktriangle Food is often something kids take for granted — it simply shows up every day • Yet there is so much for kids to know and understand about food, as Jan Thornhill explains in her new book, Who Wants Pizza?

Jan Thornhill uses one of the more common foods kids eat — a slice of pizza as a jumping off point to take a look a plethora of facts and interesting info involving how and why we eat what we eat.

Who Wants Pizza? combines tons of interesting facts with photos and illus-trations to take kids on a journey through the world of food past, present, and future.

Facts like:

• Humans are very visual animals, and the makers of processed foods know this. That's why colour is so often on lists of ingredients - to make food look more appealing. In one study, test subjects who could see their food ate much more than others who were blindfolded but the blindfolded ones reported being just as full on less food!

• Different cultures have different food customs. In many places, food is eaten without utensils, and in countries that use chopsticks, it's very rude to point with them. In Russia, to show that your host has been generous, you're expected to always leave a little food on your plate, while in India, it's impolite to leave anything at all.

• World exploration was driven by a search not for gold or even land, but for spices. Spices like black pepper, cloves, and cinna-mon were valuable be-cause they livened up a dull European diet and preserved food. Also, spices were fabulously expensive, which of course made them a status symbol. Unfortunately, this hunger for spices came at a cost to many people who grew them. As sea routes to the Far East and the Americas were discovered, one spicegrowing nation after another was conquered and then controlled by foreign-

A savoury pie that's perfect for autumn

• The rustic pork and veal pie is hearty and easy to prepare • A melding of flavours in your mouth • Also great for re-heating the next day

Whether it's for a Halloween party or Sunday in front of the widescreen for a football game, good food for a fall gathering should be hearty, flavourful and easy to prepare.

With this rustic pork and veal pie, you can put a checkmark next to all

For the savoury filling of this free-form meat pie, you start with pre-shredded cabbage, which is sold near the pre-washed salad mixes at your grocer. Then you add convenient ground pork and veal along with canned tomatoes and spices.

After it is simmered to let the flavours meld, the filling gets wrapped up in store-bought, refrigerated pie crusts and baked until golden brown. For added convenience, the pie can be baked a day ahead and reheated in a 180 C (350 F) oven for 30 minutes or until heated through.

Preparation:

- Heat oven to 230 C (450 F). Coat a large baking sheet or pizza pan with cooking spray. Set aside.
- Heat oil in a large nonstick skillet over medium. Add garlic and saute for 30 seconds. Stir in cabbage and saute until softened and translucent, about 5 minutes.
- Add ground pork and veal and cook, breaking it up as finely as possible until no longer pink, 8 to 10 minutes. Stir in tomatoes, tomato paste, thyme, allspice and cinnamon. Cover and simmer for 7 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Uncover, stir in cheese until melted, then set aside to cool slightly.

Meanwhile, on a lightly floured surface, place one pie crust on top of the other. Dust top crust with flour and roll crusts out together into a 46cm (18-inch) circle. Fold circle in half, transfer it

Ingredients:

- 10 ml (2 tsp) extra-virgin oil
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 1.5 l (6 cups) shredded green cabbage (1/2 small head)
- 250 g (1/2 lb) ground pork
- 250 g (1/2 lb) ground veal
- 250 ml (1 cup) canned diced tomatoes, with juice
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) tomato paste
- 5 ml (1 tsp) dried thyme leaves
- 1 ml (1/4 tsp) ground allspice
- 1 ml (1/4 tsp) cinnamon
- · Salt and ground black pepper, to taste
- 150 ml (2/3 cup) shredded extra-sharp cheddar cheese
- 1 pkg refrigerated pie crusts (two 23-cm/9-inch crusts), room temperature to the prepared baking sheet or pizza pan and unfold.

Place pork and yeal mixture in the centre of the pie crust circle, spreading it out in an even layer and leaving a 10-cm (4-inch) uncovered border. Fold edges of crust up over filling, forming pleats and leaving a roughly 5- to 7.5-cm (2to 3-inch) opening at the centre

Bake pie for 25 to 30 minutes or until the crust is golden-brown on the top and bottom and completely cooked at the folds

DON'T HANG YOURSELF OUT TO DRY

QUESTION:

I would like to eco-source dryer sheets. Do such things exist?

Matthew from Vancouver, BC

ryer sheets were actually designed to reduce static in synthetic fabrics only. But today, most people add a sheet (or more) to every dryer load regardless of the fiber. Dryer sheets do not lend themselves to eco-friendliness because of their disposable nature and synthetic chemical ingredients. They're best avoided, so I'd suggest saving your money.

Since full disclosure of ingredients in consumer products like dryer sheets is not required by law, it's hard to know exactly which chemicals they contain. However, many people who stop using dryer sheets find they and others in their home also stop suffering from asthma-like symptoms, headaches or irritated skin.

To prevent static cling, hang clothes to dry. To reduce static you can also add half a cup of white vinegar to the rinse cycle of your washing machine.

of your washing machine. Dryer sheets and liquid fabric softeners contain chemicals that coat your clothing, towels and bedding with a residue that never completely washes out. Even Energy Star (a program promoting energy-efficient appliances) recommends scrubbing your lint filter regularly if you use dryer sheets because they can leave a film on the filter. This film reduces air flow and, over time, can affect the performance of the motor.

The synthetic perfumes derived from petroleum-based ingredients are another concern. Once the scented air leaves your dryer vent and floats into your neighbourhood, it's increasingly causing allergic reactions in people with chemical sensitivities. That's not very neighbourly.

Tree-planting: Leave it for fall

♠ Know your yard ♠ Check arborist's references

When Lynne and Kemper Smith moved to Golden, Colo., from Florida six years ago, they bought a new house and planted trees — fruit trees out back and a cache of aspen near the front door.

Very Colorado, those aspen. Unfortunately, it was the wrong part of Colorado. "I was a Florida boy and didn't know what I was doing," Kemper Smith says. "I didn't know they'd get this big."

Planting the wrong tree in the wrong place is common, according to arborists around the country. Home-builders and homeowners often plant trees too close to houses, power lines or roads because they don't consider how the trees will look 20 or 30 years down the road. They choose trees that aren't necessarily suited to the soil and region.

"I think that a lot of it is lack of education," says Jon Elliott, an arborist for Denver-area Swingle Lawn, Tree & Landscape Care.

Fall is a good time for planting trees and shrubs, but homeowners need to do their homework. Lynne Smith says the little trees she and her neighbours planted already have grown too big.

Elliott recommends shopping at a reputable local nursery, rather than big-box stores — and making sure their stock is grown in your climate zone.

Experts also recommend plants native to a region. For example, while the Smiths' aspens do grow well in the Colorado mountains, they become susceptible to fungus, disease and insect infestation at lower altitudes, including Golden.

Planting tips

- Learn about your climate, annual rainfall, soil makeup and drainage.
- Plant trees that can grow large (18 metres or taller) at least three to 4.5 metres from the house.
- Find your electrical, gas, water and sewer lines.
- Big-box stores may carry trees unsuitable for the local area, arborist Jon Elliott warns

For the truly self-unaware, achieving nonalignment in the office realpolitik could also require keeping a paper tally of the number of critical and backbiting comments you let slip past the filter. "We usually can't see

Online sites let students grade their professors

Official student evaluations have been part of the student experience for decades, but until the advent of the Internet, students had to rely on friends for professor recommendations — and gos-sip. Almost no universities provide their official evaluations to students.

ratemyprofessors.com, the site boasts of having more than 6,000 schools with over one million evaluations. Other sites that have launched include Professorperformance.co

The University of Toronto is one place where the administration is aware of the popularity of online evaluation sites and it's proposing its own online system, which is expected to go live in September

According to Prof. Edith Hillan, vice-provost of faculty and academic life at the university, sites such as ratemyprofessors.com are "useful for students, but we wouldn't use them from an institutional perspective to gather information."

"Often you'll get comments or scores at the ex-treme end of the end spectrum," she said.

At Ryerson University, the vice-provost for faculty affairs, John Isbister, doesn't object to online evaluation sites, recognizing that they are useful for students who can't access the official evaluations that students give to the administration after a course is complete.

We do care about student experience, but it's tive agreement that their evaluations remain confidential," said Isbister.

Ratemyprofessor.com boasts of having more than 6,000

Both universities say exterior online evaluations have no weight when the administration is reviewing their faculty and factoring promotions, tenure, salary and other related things.

The fact that official evaluations remain confidential is one reason for students flocking to the online sites as an alterna-

"The official evalua-tions are hugely ineffective — they are good for the university to decide on salaries, but not good at helping us decide what courses to take," said Ben White, a third-year engineering student at the University of Toronto.

"I mean I never see them."

Also they can be beneficial for students who are ed to the university community.

"They are really helpful and useful — I came here not knowing anyone," said Yael Sperkut, a first-year humanities student at U of

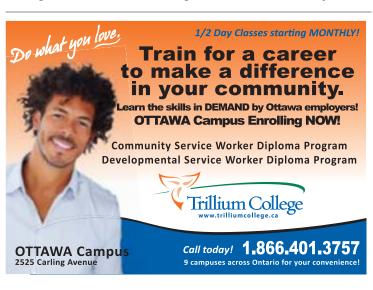

"I used it in high school ratemyteachers.com and when I was mad or thought they weren't doing their jobs, sure I posted — a lot "

Hillan said the University of Toronto's proposed online evaluations will have "provostial guide-lines" — to oversee the system to make sure it's used appropriately.

These proposed evaluations don't do enough for White.

"Even the ones done through the student union are slightly edited if they're too profane. I'm getting the straight truth when I go online," he said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Today's horoscope

T Aries March 21-April 20 Be careful what you agree to today because nothing is quite what it seems. The more someone tries to persuade you that their plan is foolproof the more suspicious you should

Taurus April 21-May 21 Your imagination will be working overtime today, but in a good way. For best results, focus only on positive thoughts

II Gemini May 22-June 21 Mercurv, your ruler, will give you some great new ideas but don't be too eager to follow them up quickly because there are changes in the air and your aims may change too over the next few days.

Gancer June 22-July 22 No doubt you have been running around doing good deeds for other people, but what have you done for yourself?

Ω Leo July 23-Aug.23 Cosmic activity in the area of your chart that governs the mind will fill your head with all sorts of outrageous ideas and one of those ideas could be worth a lot of money

TV Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 Some people are masters of deception – you are a master of selfdeception. Bear that thought in mind today if you find yourself coming up with reasons why something you want cannot be done.

← Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 The signals you are getting from other people may be confusing but don't worry about it.

> M Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. You must be completely honest today. If you tell only half the story or if you bend the facts to make yourself look good you will actually lose out in the long-term.

→ Sagittarius

Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Common sense will be at a premium today, so don't get carried away and do something silly.

け Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 It's not often you lose your sense of direction but you seem to be having second thoughts about so many things at the moment.

Don't worry about it. Mind planet Mercury will clarify the situation later in the week.

Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Something you see or hear today will go a long way towards restoring your faith in human nature. It seems there are still some nice people in the world.

H Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 You may not be aware of it yet but one of the best times of the year is about to begin. With both the Sun and Mercury moving in your favor this week all the hard work you have put in is about to pay off. SALLY BROMPTON
